AMURT–Global has been approached towards giving conclusive findings and data analyzed by the survey tool. Since the AMURTs team and its volunteers also provided support in the affected villages, AMURT has taken a comparative analysis of the impact and effectiveness of the Rescue–Relief & Rehabilitation service. This comparative analysis was helpful in showcasing the difference in disaster resilience of the diversified program communities versus the non-program communities.

Additional Responses:

The AMURT-Global volunteers were quick respond to the Cyclone affected area. They rushed to the affected villages, held meetings with all important stakeholders, called upon Community mobilizes / volunteers and task force teams and prepared phase-wise action plans. The District authorities have interacted with the Government to share information about the activities, volunteers had been visited the most vulnerable villages and identified miserably affected locations and there were immediate needs, where nobody hadn't yet been reached in the vulnerable areas, In this condition, the AMURT teams made sure that each house was visited once again and ensured that people who stayed behind, were evacuated to nearest Government relief centres. The kitchen camp sets provided under the program were of great help during preparation of food for evacuees. Even extreme environmental conditions could not deter AMURT volunteers from rescuing people, clearing debris & clearing roads for greater accessibility. The AMURT volunteers were active and coordinated very well before, during and after the cyclone. We also mentioned that we shall further try to build upon the initial learning's to capacity in responding to disasters and would especially make efforts to further improve coordination with the Govt. body towards better disaster response. On the other hand, AMURT has decided to involve post disaster services like to be immediate initiated for the livelihood and sustainable integrated development programme/ Co-operative service / Ideal Farming and Capacity building programme in the unreachable tribal area of Gajapati district given priority to women empowerment. Initially step towards in R. Udayagiri & Rayagada Block, also the responders mentioned that they should need to gain more knowledge and learn new scientific methodology skills towards responding to any emergency.
